Description
Legion: Afflictor

Contains one unassembled and unpainted metal model.

Among the myriad powers at Everblight's disposal, the most terrifying is the dragon's capacity to infect his enemies in body and mind. The blight is not only a means to create his servants and spawn but also a weapon to be wielded against lesser creatures. The afflictor was birthed to serve this very purpose. Its body is a vessel for delivering the seed of all-consuming, destructive life. Struck by the beast's wicked tail, a victim is pumped full of caustic corruption, its flesh made a vessel for a new child of the dragon.
